

Armstrong

Judah Oakes

Judah Oakes

A twenty minute drive north of Vernon BC, sits a small town primarily known for it's famous cheese. This quaint agricultural township now has something else to make the trip to Armstrong worthwhile other than it's aged cheddar. Fall of last year, the local skaters combined forces with Jim Barnum and Spectrum Skatepark Creations to design the next addition to the ever growing skatepark collection of the Okanogan. This park is another prime example of a Spectrum creation, combining all sorts of technical features with some smooth transitions to keep the old dogs happy, all in a flowing manner. Adjustable rails, curbs and ledges of many heights, flat banks, quarter pipes, hips, a mini, a bowled corner and a cool tombstone are just some features. In addition to these, this park has really cool off-set rollers to use for gaining speed, or if you are really good, you can do crazy ollie transfers like the guys from Spectrum at the opening day session. A pleasant addition to the ripe Okanogan. -By Des Moore

Jim Barnum frontside grabs on the 4ft vert wall. Photo: Judah Oakes

Brad Berry frontside flips the pyramid. Photo: Des Moore

Steve Strang bs flip. Seq: Judah Oakes